POTATOES CAUSE FISTIC BATTLE

Richard Glover is Arrested on Assault and Battery Charge Preferred by Charles Gardner.

TRIAL TO BE HELD THURSDAY

"Nig" Bennett is Fined $1 and Costs For Intoxication—Released When Fine is Stayed.

The mayor's court alias the police court took on a latent activity this afternoon when two cases came up before Mayor Black. Willie Bennett, better known as "Nig" was fined one dollar and costs for drunkenness and was allowed to go free, when Mark Purcell stayed his fine. Richard Glover, an old man, pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault and battery, preferred by Charles Gardner. He was allowed to go free and his trial was set for Thursday afternoon at two o'clock.

"Nig" Bennett was arrested late yesterday afternoon by City Marshal Harlow while on the street in an intoxicated condition. He was placed in jail to await a trial. He was taken up before Mayor Black last night and pleaded not guilty to the charge. Young Bennett was taken back to jail and his trial was set for 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. At eleven o'clock Bennett was released by the city marshal after he had extracted a promise from the young man to appear for trial this afternoon.

When Bennett had a good night's sleep, he suffered a change of mind and came up before the mayor this afternoon with a plea of guilty on his lips. The mayor asked him where he purchased his whiskey. Bennett said that he went to Cincinnati with a crowd of young fellows on the Sunday excursion and brought the booze back with him. He proceeded to "tank up" yesterday and landed in the county bastille. The mayor attempted to impress on the young man who testified that he was only eighteen years old, that this is a "dry" town and that the city officials would not tolerate drunkenness. He said that they wished to make men out of the young fellows and not loafers. The mayor impressed on the youngster that it would cost him twenty-five dollars and costs on the second appearance in police court.

It seems that a potato patch is the sole cause of the trouble between Charles Gardner and Dick Glover, which caused Glover to be arrested this morning. Gardner charges that Glover hit him over the arm with a stick and seriously injured him. Gardner has a badly swollen arm, but it is not thought that the bone is fractured. From all that could be gleaned from Glover's story in police court, he and Gardner had a slight encounter in North Sexton street on yesterday afternoon after an argument over the potatoes and that it was all over as soon as they clinched.

Glover told the mayor this afternoon that Gardner provoked him and that he drew a knife, threatening to cut Glover, before the fray was under good headway. Glover said that no one witnessed the fight but that some of his relatives were on the scene of action near the finish. He said that Mrs. Alice Glover and her niece, Nellie Glover, came too late to interfere. They will be asked to testify in the trial Thursday.

County Chairman Verne Norris will have the rooms fitted up within the next few days and all will be made ready for the opening of the campaign from the county headquarters. A large sign will be put out in front of the place to inform visitors to this city of its location. From now on it is going to be a case of concentrated effort to bring the G. O. P. out from the battle of November the eighth with flying colors, at least as far as this county is concerned.

FAIR WEATHER WILL BRING CROWD

The Two Balloon Ascensions Are Principal Attractions Tomorrow For Big Wednesday.

CONTINUOUS CONCERT ALL DAY

Tomorrow will bring the fifth of the six Big Wednesdays, which were contracted for by the merchants of the city. If the weather man is feeling good and well disposed toward Rushville the crowd will be as large if not larger than that that has been here for any of the previous Big Wednesdays. The main attraction tomorrow will be the two balloon ascensions by John Innis, the local aviator. In the afternoon he will make one at 3:30 o'clock from the old foundry lot at the corner of old foundry lot on Perkins street, and in the evening he will make one at 8:00 o'clock and while in the air will make a fireworks display from the balloon. All of the merchants are offering exceptional bargains to the shoppers. There will be band concerts throughout the entire day and evening, besides the three moving picture shows which will be free in the afternoon to those who make purchases.

THE WEATHER

Showers and probably thunder storms tonight or Wednesday. Cooler Wednesday.

Wood is seasoned in France by electricity.

MAY ENTERTAIN TWO CELEBRITIES

Members of Norris Family Expecting Two Prominent Men in Politics Here Tomorrow.

FOR SECOND ANNUAL REUNION

Have Invited G. W. Norris, Nebraska Congressman, and Edwin Norris, Governor of Montana.

It is probable that the second annual reunion of the Norris family, which will be held at the Rush county fair grounds tomorrow, will bring together a collection of men who have gained prominence in the political world, one of them especially since the recent formation of the so-called insurgents. George William Norris, congressman from the fifth district in Nebraska, has been invited and is expected to attend. Edwin Norris, governor of Montana, has also been asked to attend and it is hoped that he will be among the number to enjoy the old-fashioned dinner at the fair grounds.

The members of the Norris family held their first reunion last year and at that time did not have all of the various branches of their family in tact. They have learned that the two men with their name, who have gained prominence in the political world, are descended from the same family and they accordingly have asked them to join in the annual event. The Nebraska congressman is expected to come, while the local members of the family are not certain about the Montana governor.

Both men were born and reared in Ohio and it is for that reason that it is believed that they belong to this branch of the Norris family. George William Norris, Republican congressman comes from the same descendants. Mr. Norris encountered many hardships, being left in straightened conditions as the only support for his aged mother at an early age. He worked his way through high school and obtained the degree of law in college. He went to Nebraska in 1885, after being admitted to the bar two years previous to that and began the practice of law. He was elected to several offices and was finally chosen by the people of his district to represent them in the fifty-eighth congress. He was re-elected to the fifty-ninth, sixtieth and sixty-first sessions of congress.

The local family is not so certain about the relationship of Governor Norris of Montana. He was born in Ohio and the family here believes that he belongs to the same branch. They are hoping that the two celebrities will come for the occasion and are making every preparation for their entertainment.

The Norris reunion tomorrow will be somewhat different from the ordinary ones in that they have arranged something new and novel. They will have the big and overflowing basket dinner but they will also have an intellectual feast. A varied program has been arranged which includes several musical numbers, both vocal and instrumental.

CONDITION CAUSED ALARM.

Judge W. A. Cullen had a slight fainting spell at his farm, west of the city this afternoon and his condition caused some alarm for a time. He is recovered now. Dr. J. C. Sexton was sent for and Mr. Cullen was brought to his home in this city.

Miss Louise McIntee, formerly of this city, daughter of John McIntee, is seriously ill with typhoid fever at her home in Kokomo. It was reported here this morning that she was dead, but that proved to be untrue.

WOMAN DRIVER IN RACES AT FAIR

Board Has Procured Miss Mae Simpson to Enter Her Horses in Next Week's Racing Events.

OFFICERS VISIT OTHER FAIRS

Van's Famous Shows Which Will be Here Through Entire Week Have Attractive Features.

One week from today and the Rush county fair will be in progress and on that day a fair of many attractions of intense interest will be found by the fair loving public. The most recent speciality procured for this year is Miss Mae Simpson, the expert woman race horse driver. Miss Simpson promised to be here last year, but on account of sickness found it impossible to come. She is driving in the races at Lebanon this week, and from there notified the management of the local fair that she would come to this city and enter in the races providing they would agree to pay the expenses of shipping her pacers and trotters to this place. They agreed to do so for the mild sensation that a woman would cause as a race horse driver.

The fair board are making an active canvass at the other fairs, which are being held at the other cities throughout the State this week, for attractions, of every kind and character. Tomorrow Elmer Humes and Will King will attend the fair at Elwood, the other members of the board will attend the fair at Lebanon and Columbus. The fair board this morning contracted with the Big Four to run a special train to this city from Greensburg on Thursday of the fair, which will leave that city at seven o'clock in the morning.

The main attraction of the fair this year is to be Van's famous shows, which are heralded as being the greatest trained animal shows in existence. They have horses which they say are not trick horses, but educated horses. Cricket, the famous good night pony, is also owned by this company. It is a pony that gets ill, retires for the night, says its prayers, and realizing that the end is near, bids farewell to his master, but the pathos is immediately turned to laughter by the arrival of Dr. Monk, who through strenuous effort recalls the pony safely back to the land of the living. The trick bicycle monkey, Dennis, the smartest dog on earth; Macaboy and Queen, the highest leaping greyhounds in the world; and the school of trained Arabian horses are other especially interesting features of the show. "Jack" Vampner, the great contortionist is also in the employ of the Van show. The management of the fair believe that they have obtained a great attraction in this company of entertainers, one that will be worth coming miles to see.

DRIVES TEAM IN FRONT OF TRAIN

Ben Thornton, Seeing Impending Danger, by a Tremendous Jerk, Saves Team and Himself.

BROKE END OF WAGON TONGUE

Ben Thornton, who was driving a gravel wagon and team, which is the property of Demp Norris, had a very narrow escape today from serious or possibly fatal injury at the Eleventh street crossing of the J. M. & I. railroad. Whistling merrily and paying no particular attention to railroad crossings, he drove to the crossing without realizing the nearness of the south-bound passenger train, which is due here at 8:00 o'clock. Seeing how near death was at hand he gave the horses a tremendous jerk and succeeded in getting them far enough back off of the track so as that no damage was done beyond breaking the part of the wagon tongue which protruded on beyond the horses. The driver and the owner of the team consider themselves extremely lucky in the results of the near fatal accident.

—Mrs. Margaret A. Stewart will arrive this evening from Wamego, Kansas, to attend the Williams reunion at the fair grounds Thursday.

The Rev. Mr. Higgins of Oklahoma will preach at the Moscow Christian church next Sunday morning at ten o'clock.

The following people have filed claims against John McKay, administrator of the estate of Sarah McKay: W. J. Porter, demanding $29.10; Oliver Mingle, demanding $15.40; B. F. Miller, $28.50, and Elliott & Paxton, $66.20.

TAKE ACTION ON NEW COLISEUM

Committee to Investigate the Cost of Structure Appointed by the Chautauqua Directors.

WILL BEGIN WORK AT ONCE

Reorganization Affected Last Night and Old Officers Were Re-Elected For Ensuing Year.

That an effort will be made to build a coliseum for the chautauqua and for the purpose of holding public meetings in general, is evidenced by the fact that steps were taken in that direction at the meeting of the directors of the chautauqua association in the court house last night. A committee was appointed by the chair, which will investigate the cost of erecting such a structure at once. The directors also affected a permanent organization and elected officers for the ensuing year.

The committee which was appointed last night, T. M. Green, chairman, Earl H. Payne and Dr. C. H. Parsons, will begin operations at once and will report to the directors of the association at a meeting to be held later. The committee has already begun an active campaign and will get ideas on the work by corresponding with various construction companies all over the county. They will have charge of that part of the work in all of its phases. The whole matter is left to them and it is probable that they will suggest a plan, which they consider best, for raising the money to pay for such a structure.

The consideration of building a coliseum has been an issue at the close of the chautauqua for the past few seasons. It has never taken definite form as it has this year and everything points to an active campaign for such a building. That there is need of such a building in Rushville there seems to be no doubt and it is the belief of the men connected with the chautauqua that the plan will meet with the hearty co-operation of the business men and residents of Rushville in general. It has always been the plan to build a good stationary structure, when once it is desired that such a structure is to be erected.

The directors re-elected the officers of last year and the men who will have official charge of next year's work are, Lincoln Guffin, president; Dr. C. H. Parsons, vice president; T. A. Craig, secretary and Earl H. Payne, treasurer. The appointment of the committees which will have charge of the real work of the assembly was taken out of the hands of the directors and left to the officers. The committees which will be appointed are, program, grounds, tents, transportation and advertising. A committee was appointed last night to draft a set of by-laws for the association.

Contrary to reports received here, C. K. Clossen of Louisville, Ky., was not killed in a head-on collision between a work train and the north-bound Big Four passenger, due here at 11:04 in the morning, below North Vernon yesterday morning. The engineer, however, was seriously hurt, and several of the passengers were injured, but none of them fatally. The wreckage has been cleared up and the trains are running according to schedule.

FARM LABOR SAVERSThirty Acres of Machinery Will Be At State Fair.

Hundreds of Indiana farms owe their labor-saving methods and home comforts to ideas obtained at the State Fair, and the coming exposition is going to show the newest offerings of machinery for farm use. This exhibit will cover thirty acres of ground and will include scores of contrivances for reducing the work and increasing the output of the farm, and there will be hundreds of machines for making lighter the work of farm women and which will give them household conveniences which make the country home rank in appointments with the city mansion. Methods of providing heat, light, water and sanitation will be shown. Rapid and profitable ways of doing dairy work will be exploited in exhibits. Concrete, now an important material on every modern farm, will have its many uses shown in exhibits. One exhibit will show a complete model farm with the model buildings made of this material.

In heavy machinery the fair will have many acres of exhibits. Last year the makers of threshers by agreement did not show their machines at the fair, but they are coming to the next fair in greater force than ever. E. S. Tuell of Corydon has charge of the mechanical department.

That the mechanical display is going to be on an enormous scale was made evident early in July, when all of the regular space was assigned to exhibitors, and since then there has been a clamor on the part of exhibitors for ground room. Harvesting machinery, power outfits, vehicles of all kinds, everything of use to the farmer, will have prominence in the acres of machinery that will be seen.

FLOWERS AND FRUITSElaborate Shows of Both at Indiana State Fair.

The Indiana State Florists' association is taking an active interest in making the flower show at the State Fair a glowing success this year. The association arranged the premium list so that it would be attractive to professional growers, and the amateur flower growers are also well provided for. Women from both town and farm who cultivate flowers about their homes will find open to them many classes in the fair's show. Special features in flowers have been provided for each day of the fair.

David Wallace of Indianapolis, who for years has been active in the management of the fair, will have charge of the flower show as well as the table luxury department, another division of the fair that is very popular. The choicest products of Indiana home kitchens will be displayed, including breadstuffs, pastries and preserved fruits, and the prizes offered the amateur exhibitors are very inviting.

Fruit from Indiana soil by Indiana growers makes up another division of Mr. Wallace's department, and it is always in keeping with the quality and quantity of the hoosier crop. Some of the best orchards and some of the more active horticultural societies are always represented in the fruit show by large exhibits.

Upbuilders of Indiana State Fair.

Four men who are widely known over Indiana and who have long been actively identified with the upbuilding of the State Fair will at the coming fair again be in charge of departments in which they have for many years been interested. Each of them has served as president of the State Board of Agriculture. John L. Thompson, one of the pioneer sheep men of Indiana, and who is known over the world as an expert on Shropshires, will have charge of the sheep department. Mason J. Niblack has expanded the swine department to a point where it is one of the largest livestock divisions of the fair. Sid Conger has made the poultry show of the fair one of the largest of its kind in the country. James E. McDonald has for a decade had charge of the art department of the fair, and year after year through his efforts one of the largest buildings on the grounds is filled to overflowing with displays of especial interest to women. The outlook for this division is especially good for the coming fair and it will abound in displays of knitted and crocheted work, hand-made laces and embroideries, hand sewing, fancy work, photography, arts and crafts, paintings in oils and water colors by professional and amateur artists, china painting and photography, with many other features popular with women.

The other divisions of the fair and the experienced members of the board in charge are: Agricultural products, C. B. Benjamin, Crown Point; horticulture, David Wallace, Indianapolis; mechanical, E. S. Tuell, Corydon; speed, C. H. Anthony, Muncie; horses, J. Lynn VanNatta, Lafayette; cattle, Clem Graves, Bunker Hill; admissions, John C. Haines, Rockport; grandstand, Dan C. Reed, Attica; concessions, H. L. Nowlin, Moores Hill; coliseum, Knode Porter, Hagerstown; amusements, I. Newt Brown, Franklin. Oscar Hadley, known over Indiana as a cattleman, is president of the board; J. W. LaGrange of Franklin is treasurer.

THE PRESIDENT AND ROOSEVELTMr. Taft Comes Out in a Formal Statement.*REPUDIATION OF SHERMAN

In Making Clear His Attitude Regarding New York Situation, President Not Only Brings Peace Offerings to the Colonel, but Practically Repudiates New Yorkers' Choice of Sherman for State Convention Chairman.

New York, Aug. 23.—A letter from President Taft to Lloyd C. Griscom, chairman of the New York county committee, does away altogether with the wild stories which have been floating around for more than a week past to the effect that there is a break between Mr. Taft and Colonel Roosevelt. As this letter shows, the president had nothing to do with the turning down of Roosevelt by the state committee. It was in fact his hope that there should be harmony at the meeting. When the news of the result of the meeting reached the president he was told that Mr. Roosevelt was inclined to blame him for what occurred, and Mr. Taft was advised by some of his closest friends to come out with a statement showing that so far from doing anything which might split the Republican party in this state, he had on the contrary advised that nothing should be done which would tend to show that there was even a semblance of a possibility of a break between himself and the former president.

Mr. Taft at that time refused to follow the advice. He told the friends who counseled him to make his position clear that to do so would put him in the light of taking an active interest in the party affairs of this state. He explained to them that while, of course, he was interested in the Republican situation in New York state, he thought it would be improper for him to make any statement along the lines suggested by his friends for the reason that it would be going against the policy he had laid out for himself of not interfering in any way with any local or state fights.

Mr. Taft intended to stick to this policy, but in response to suggestions made to him that if the idea should be allowed to continue that he was even indirectly responsible for the rejection of Roosevelt as temporary chairman of the convention, the result would be that the party would be in an even worse condition when the campaign opened than it is now.

It was then that Mr. Taft consented to make it clear that he had never raised so much as a finger to defeat Mr. Roosevelt for the temporary chairmanship of the state convention; that he had always been opposed to any suggestion of a contest at the meeting of the state committee against Roosevelt; that he had made this plain to Mr. Sherman; that Mr. Sherman in the presence of Representative Nicholas Longworth had promised him that nothing would be done with regard to the selection or rejection of Roosevelt until in the interest of harmony Mr. Roosevelt had been consulted. Mr. Taft in his letter to Griscom states that Sherman agreed to this stipulation, but according to Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Griscom the promise was never carried out. The Woodruff-Barnes element of the Republican state committee has insinuated that Mr. Taft is not in favor of the direct primary bill. Mr. Taft in his letter says that this is not true of his attitude and that in fact he is in favor of such a direct primary measure as that provided for in the Cobb bill.

The letter to Mr. Griscom is of especial interest for the reason that Mr. Taft has changed his mind as to expressing his opinion on the situation in this state, and of answering the report that he is no longer in sympathy with Roosevelt policies. The president's letter in answer to a query from Griscom regarding his attitude on the chairmanship situation states, among other things:

"The suggestion that I have ever expressed a wish to defeat Mr. Roosevelt for the temporary chairmanship of the convention or have ever taken the slightest step to do so is wholly untrue. I never heard Mr. Sherman's name suggested as temporary chairman of the state convention until I saw in the newspapers of Aug. 16 that he had been selected at the meeting of the committee. When you called at my house Saturday evening, Aug. 13, you told me that Mr. Roosevelt intended to go to the convention as a delegate, and you suggested incidentally his being made temporary chairman—a suggestion in which I acquiesced. It did not occur to me that anyone would oppose it. This was the first time the subject of the temporary chairmanship was mentioned to me by anyone. * * I am very sorry indeed to observe columns of unfounded assertions in the newspapers concerning my attitude in respect to the New York situation. You know, however, as well as other New York leaders, that whenever my advice or assistance in reaching a satisfactory adjustment of the troubles arising has been sought I have urged the necessity for the fullest conference with Mr. Roosevelt by the members of the organization and with due deference to honest difference of opinion, have expressed the view which I still entertain, that the solution of the direct primary issue can be found in provisions similar to those on the Cobb bill as amended to accord with the memorial signed by Mr. Seth Low, Mr. Joseph Choate and other prominent Republicans of New York city."

NO COMPROMISE

The Colonel Sees No Reason for Changing His Attitude.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 23.—On hearing of the letter which Mr. Taft sent to Lloyd C. Griscom, repudiating Vice President Sherman, Mr. Roosevelt said that his position in regard to the state situation is definite and that he has nothing to change in it. The colonel declared that since the meeting there has been no reason why he should meet the state leaders and that their action at the meeting has made the situation such that it allows no compromise. He could not tell how far the situation will be changed by the president's letter.

From what the colonel said it is unlikely that he will attend the convention unless he is forced to do so. He has told his friends right along that he wanted to keep out because he did not desire to get mixed up in a factional fight. He considered that Sherman as temporary chairman would make that stand necessary, but he may change his mind later. Whatever action he does take will not be announced until after his return from his western trip, which began today with his speech at Utica.

The president's letter to Mr. Griscom is interpreted in Oyster Bay to be somewhat in the line of a peace offering. Reports in the papers of a break between the president and Roosevelt are thought to have hastened a word from Beverly, although the colonel has offered no word of criticism of either Taft or the administration. He will not do so for a long time. On the western trip his attitude as to national affairs ought to be pretty clearly defined by the time he gets back. The state situation is another matter. When the colonel was asked again about the Oyster Bay dispatches concerning his break with the president, he had nothing to say. He said he would neither deny nor affirm. The general impression here is simply that the action of the administration in attempting to secure harmony in New York state by the aid of Roosevelt will not attain the desired ends unless greater concessions are made than have been suggested yet. The colonel will wait for still further evidence.

SHERMAN UNPERTURBED

The Vice President Takes Latest Developments Quite Coolly.

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Vice President Sherman absolutely refused to discuss President Taft's letter. Not only did Mr. Sherman refuse to discuss the president's statement, but he also declined to read the chapter Mr. Taft unexpectedly wrote into the tangled state situation. Likewise he refused to read the statements by ex-President Roosevelt and Griscom. Mr. Sherman was entirely unperturbed by the new angle to the controversy so suddenly developed and betrayed no concern in the various statements in which he figures so prominently. Mr. Sherman was invited to deliver a speech at Summit Park here today on the occasion of ex-President Roosevelt's visit, but a New York engagement which he had previously made and later important business matters in Watertown, forced him to decline.

Great Crowd Greet the Colonel.

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 23.—All the mills in Utica, New York Mills, Whitesboro and Oriskany closed down at noon today to permit their several thousand employees to get up to Summit park this afternoon and hear Colonel Roosevelt's speech, while excursions on all roads entering Utica brought thousands to swell the crowd. The electric railroad arranged to transport 20,000 people to Summit park, where the state Grangers and the G. A. R. have their picnic.

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor of Massachusetts.

FARMER'S PART IN COMING EVENT

"Wheat Special" Provides Rare Advantages for Farmers Who Wish to Progress.

WILL BE HERE ON AUGUST 30.

Competent Lecturers from Purdue University Will Be on Train to Give Short Talks.

Beginning last Monday and continuing until September 7th, the Pennsylvania Lines will operate a farmers' special instruction train through the State of Indiana. This will give Indiana farmers an opportunity to hear lectures on methods of improving wheat by experts from the Purdue Experiment Station. These talks will treat of selection of varieties of wheat, cultural methods, control of plant diseases, and methods of combating injurious insects.

This fifteen days' tour is a continuation of the campaign started by the Pennsylvania System to improve the methods of farming in the States through which it operates. Since 1907 a number of special instruction trains have been operated in Ohio, Indiana, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland, and farmers' educational steamboats have been run on the rivers tributary to the Chesapeake Bay by the Maryland, Delaware & Virginia, and the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway Companies, subsidiary lines of the Pennsylvania System.

For the "Wheat Improvement Special Train," the Pennsylvania Lines will furnish a train consisting of an engine, two coaches fitted up as audience rooms, and a car for those accompanying it. The train will start from Logansport, and during the fifteen days stops will be made at some 156 stations on the Vandalia, the G. R. & I. and the Pennsylvania Lines. At each of these stations two 30-minute lectures will be delivered in the coaches.

Simultaneously with the running of the "Wheat Improvement Special Train" through Indiana, another farmers' instruction train will be operated through the State of Ohio.

Persons desiring to hear a lecture that is not given at one point will be given an opportunity to accompany the train to the next stopping place, or as far as they care to go, on payment of the regular fare. Abstracts of all lectures will be distributed at each station to all desiring them.

The "Wheat Special" will be in Rushville at three o'clock in the afternoon on Tuesday, August 30th, and will stop at the Pennsylvania depot in Second street.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at these will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of native American medical, forest plants. How Would a "Full Jewelled" Typewriter Appeal to You?

Every important bearing in an expensive watch is a small gem of a hardness not susceptible to wear. The purpose of the jewels is to insure by reduction of friction and wear, the accuracy which makes a timepiece valuable.

The first successful use of a ball-bearing typebar in a writing-in-sight machine was by the manufacturers of the New Model L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter.

Ball Bearings not only for the typebars, but at all vital wearing points of the New Model

L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter

ALL THE WRITING ALWAYS IN SIGHT

are made to serve exactly the same purpose as the jewelled bearings of an accurate, expensive watch. They prevent play and false motion, banish friction, and insure to the operator, for every ounce of energy applied, a full equivalent of perfect work. You demand a full jewelled watch. Why not a full ball-bearing typewriter?

A California girl, fined $25 for running her automobile against a steam locomotive, told the magistrate that the fun was worth the price. That is the trouble with the speed maniacs. The fun is more important to them than the safety of the public highway and the fine that may be thrown in. The only way to stop it is to impose a penalty that is weightier to them than the excitement of railroad speed on an open road.

The Marion Chronicle, the Republican paper of Grant county, refers as follows to Louis Ludlow of Fayette county, the Indianapolis Star's correspondent:

"Louis Ludlow is writing for the Indianapolis Star a most interesting series of articles in which some of Indiana's representative men express their views on current questions. Mr. Ludlow has a remarkable facility for collecting and grouping interesting facts. For this reason it is especially unfortunate that during the winter months he is compelled to furnish from Washington a lot of imaginative writing that is calculated to bolster up the preconceived notions of the paper by which he is employed. The Washington correspondent who must furnish dope to fit a policy necessarily has all the originality and about all the interest knocked out of his work. Unfortunately about nine-tenths of the Washington correspondence is made to order. In the work Mr. Ludlow is doing now the people of the State have a suggestion of what he could do if he were not compelled to keep his hand on the handle of a personal and factional political organ."

INDIANA POLITICS

[Special Correspondence.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 23.—Troubles continue to multiply in the Democratic camp. Labor men seem to be giving the Democrats a lot to think about these days. The attack being made by the typographical union on the head of the state Democratic ticket, Lew Ellingham, already is hurting. The wallop handed out to the Democratic state committee by Samuel Gompers is still ringing in the heads of the Taggart managers. They had counted so strongly on the help of the president of the American Federation of Labor that they already had sent out word to Democratic papers announcing that Mr. Gompers would make Democratic speeches. Mr. Gompers announced flatly that he would do nothing of the kind. He also praised Senator Beveridge and refused to say a word for Mr. Kern, Beveridge's opponent.

There are plenty of Democratic local troubles traceable here and there to the attitude of labor. Up in Grant, Blackford and Wells the Democrats threw out as joint senator Burney Shafer, president of an organization of union bricklayers. Shafer's overthrow was brought about by brutal boss methods in ruthlessness and disorder. Senator Shafer is not saying much. But his labor friends have added this wrong to other grievances, and are rallying to prove that they not only know their enemies, but remember the politicians who despoiled the workingmen.

In Delaware county the Democrats have been forced to oust their county chairman, Byron Moffitt. Organized labor fought Moffitt, and his presence as head of the Democratic county committee gave the Democratic candidates occasion to do a lot of hedging and explaining when they solicited the votes of labor men. The feeling became so strong and the panic among Democrats waxed so great that Moffitt finally disappeared, resigning under fire. The whole transaction leaves a bad political taste. It is doubtful if the tardy action of the reluctant Democrats will serve to placate the offended elements. The Trades and Labor Council at Muncie, where there are some thirty-five unions, formally called on the Democrats to throw Moffitt out. Whereupon the Democratic county candidates issued a statement, announcing that they had "nothing to say." They add: "If the agitation relative to Mr. Moffitt has been instigated for the mere purpose of creating discontent among Democrats it should fail. If it has a foundation of reason it affects Mr. Moffitt alone and not the nominees of the party, who have nothing to do with the affairs of the central committee."

It may all be true that the Democratic candidates in Delaware county did not care what labor did to Moffitt. In their statement they declare loftily that they make their appeal to all citizens on a basis of the welfare of the people. At the same time, for some weeks last past there has been a lot of caucusing and discussing and making of pledges to labor. And it now comes out that Moffitt's resignation as county chairman has been in hand for two weeks. The whole thing was done to appease labor.

Joe O'Day, Democratic nominee for representative, also has his woes. Dr. W. S. Brandon, of Daleville, and his friends, declare that Brandon, and not O'Day, was nominated at the Delaware county Democratic convention. Lew Moore was nominated as a dry. He ran far ahead. Two were to be nominated. Next to Moore ran Brandon and O'Day. Brandon is a dry and O'Day is a wet. They were apparently tied on the first ballot. The next vote went O'Day's way. Dr. Brandon's friends declare that O'Day's first vote, in which he showed a tie with Brandon, was augmented unduly by a vote which should not have been counted. An alternate and his corresponding delegate voted unknowingly, and both were O'Day men. Brandon should have had a majority the first ballot.

It was on the issue raised by the contesting Dr. Brandon that the wet bosses began to get in their work on Chairman Byron Moffitt. The county chairman took the Brandon side of the controversy over the legislative nomination. For this reason the Taggart bosses in Delaware county went after Moffitt's scalp. They had defied organized labor's earlier suggestion that Moffitt be removed. But when he developed ideas of his own as to justice to Brandon and against O'Day, the bosses' man, it became necessary to use every possible means to remove Moffitt and put in a man the bosses could rule. The anti-Moffitt crusade made by labor men proved a handy weapon for the bosses, and they suddenly developed a very earnest admiration for labor, and a burning desire to do labor's wish in the Moffitt matter.

Labor men at Muncie are not deceived for a minute. They are glad to see an inclination on the part of Democrats to remove an obnoxious chairman, but they remember how defiant the bosses and candidates were when the subject was first broached as a purely labor proposition. The whole muddle means that Republicans are in a way to elect their entire ticket in Delaware county this year by unusually large majorities. O'Day is slated to stay on the Democratic legislative ticket. The Brandon people and the Republicans say also that O'Day is slated to be licked good and hard at the polls.

AMUSEMENTS

The Vaudet management offers an Imp film for the patrons tonight, which is said to be one of the best which has been produced by that company in recent months. "The Turn of the Dice" is the title of the drama and tells a story which is suggested by the topic. It is truly sensational, not of the cheap, "yellow back" kind. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Palace will show the film, "Dumb Half Breed's Defense" tonight. It is a western drama with a unique plot, entirely different from anything which has yet been incorporated in a moving picture before. It is said to depict life on the plains in true style. A new illustrated song is in the program.

If there is anyone who doubts that F. B. Franks, the strongest man in America for his weight, is not strong, they should see his performance at the Star Grand airdome and then all doubts will be dispelled. He performs seemingly impossible feats with apparent ease, although he did strain some when he raised the car wheels, weighing about a ton, from the floor of the stage. What seemed to be the hardest part of his performance was the bending of a large inch bar between his teeth, the trick being accomplished by three men hanging on each end of the bar. He will appear again tonight. The strong man allowed a heavy automobile, furnished by J. W. Gahimer of Mankilla, to pass over his shoulders in front of the theater last night. A large crowd was attracted by the free show. Will Doyle of Connersville in his Lexington touring car, will run over the strong man's bare stomach in front of the theater tonight.

The film for tonight, "Dora Thorne," adapted from Bertha Clay's novel by the same name, is a famous drama with a plot full of human pathos. The story is well known to readers of fiction and needs no introduction. The tale winds around Dora, a poor gardener's daughter, and Roland, the son of a wealthy earl. Earl Robertson will sing "Sweetheart Tonight."

The Girl and the Bill

By Bannister Merwin

Illustrations by Ray Walton

(Copyright, 1900, Dodd, Mead Company.)

"Mees have um," repeated Arima. "We hunt. We see."

"I tell you she has not," said Orme. "No believe you." Arima chuckled. "Come, mees."

As Orme twisted himself around, he was enraged to see the Japanese in the car seize the girl by the arm and drag her to the ground. Once on her feet, she did not resist, but permitted herself to be led toward the little group.

Arima advanced a step to meet her. "Give me papers," he said.

"I have no papers," she protested despairingly.

"We search you," said Arima, taking another step toward her and extending his hands.

It may be that Arima did not intend actually to lay hands on her. His thought may have been that the threat would induce Orme to tell where the papers really were. But the effect on Orme was to set him ablaze with anger.

His swift, indignant purpose seemed to multiply his strength until the little men who held him were like children in his hands.

A sudden jerk, and he had pulled both his arms free. Maku and the man at his other side were taken completely by surprise, and before they had time to recover themselves, Orme had thrown his arms around them and crushed their heads together with such force that they dropped limp and unconscious to the ground. They were out of the fight.

At the first sounds of struggle, Arima turned. Now, as Orme charged toward him, he bent slightly forward, every muscle tense, ready to strike or trip or twist.

His framework was overlaid by muscles that were like supple steel. Light and quick, he had a strength that could hardly have been inferred from his build. And though Orme's outbreak had been sudden, the Japanese was apparently not in the least disconcerted.

He knew how to turn the rush of the American into a disastrous fall. He knew how to prod with his bony knuckle the angry man's solar plexus—how to step swiftly aside and bring the horny edge of his hand against sensitive vertebrae. He could seize Orme by the arm and, dropping backward to the ground, land Orme where he wished him. Yes, Arima had every reason to feel confident. Many a time had he got the better of American fist fighters.

But a system of offense and defense which is based upon the turning of an opponent's strength against himself absolutely depends for its success upon an accurate estimate of the opponent's intentions. A sudden shift of physical purpose may put your jiu-jitsu adept at a loss.

Arima, from his knowledge of American fighting methods, had reason to think that Orme would continue his charge and strike out with his fists when he came near enough. That, however, is something that Orme did not do. For, in his two previous encounters with the Japanese, he had learned much. He had learned, among other things, the value of the unexpected. And though his anger was almost blinding, he cooled, during those few short strides, to his usual caution.

Within two paces of Arima, he stopped short.

For one tense moment Orme opened his senses to all impressions. He could hear, with almost painful distinctness, the moans of the two men he had stunned and the rustling sounds made by their writhings.

He caught a glimpse of the girl. The searchlight of one of the cars struck full on the side of her face, and drew there a distinct shadow of the network of her disarranged hair. He saw the strained, excited look in her eyes. Her captor still held her arm. He was watching Orme and Arima indifferently, as though quite confident of Japanese skill.

All this Orme observed in an instant. Then his eyes were again on Arima.

He knew that he would have to attack. To await the trick holds of the Japanese would be to invite defeat. But if he attacked, he must use an unexpected method.

Suddenly he raised his left arm above his head and clenched his fist. His right arm remained by his side.

From Sickness to "Excellent Health."

So says Mrs. Chas. Lyon, Peoria, Ill.: "I found in your Foley Kidney Pills a prompt and speedy cure for backache and kidney trouble which bothered me for many months. I am now enjoying excellent health which I owe to Foley Kidney Pills." F. B. Johnson & Co.

A step forward. The upraised arm descended. Swiftly Arima reached upward to seize it. But even as the one arm descended, Orme swung his other, with terrific force, up from the waist, and caught Arima on the mouth.

"No," Exclaimed Orme, Vehemently.

The blow missed the chin, but it was hard enough to fell any man of ordinary strength. Arima staggered back, past the girl, and brought up against the side of one of the cars. But with hardly an instant for recovery, he leaped forward again and the man who was holding the girl also sprang at Orme.

It would be folly to meet the two. Orme turned and ran quickly in among the trees of the little grove. The darkness was his friend, for the pursuers halted in their quick run and separated, proceeding more cautiously.

As for Orme, once in shelter, he stopped for breath.

He could see the two men coming toward him. They were outlined against the radiance from the motor cars. Cautiously he stepped toward the south, hoping that they would pass him in the darkness, but he dared not move rapidly, lest a stumble or the breaking of a twig betray him.

All this time the engines of the two cars had continued to work, and their muffled chug-chug-chug helped to cover the noise of footsteps.

What pleased him most was to see, out of the corner of his eye, that the girl had taken advantage of her release to climb to the chauffeur's seat of the car in which Maku had brought them from Chicago. That meant that, if he could reach the car, they might get away. But the papers—

By this time Orme was between his pursuers and the road. He stopped and groped about till he found a fair-sized stone, then worked toward the edge of the grove. The moment was at hand to make a dash.

Ten steps would take him to the car; then a leap into the tonneau, and off to the northward he and the girl would speed. Pursuit would be delayed for a few precious moments, for the Japanese would have to turn the other car around. Those few moments would determine the margin of success or failure.

But there were the papers. At all cost they must be secured. The plan that flashed into Orme's mind was to draw the Japanese from the spot and then, jumping from the car let the girl lead the pursuers on while he returned.

Just as he was about to rush for the car he heard a sound among the trees. He wheeled and saw the dim outline of one of his enemies coming toward him. In his excitement he had forgotten that just as they could be seen by him when they were between him and the road, so he could now be seen by them. Undoubtedly he was outlined, as they had been, against the background of the light.

The Japanese was only a few feet away. Orme threw the stone; by

On April 2, 1910, Mrs. R. M. Worden, 5 St. James Ave., Holyoke, Mass., wrote: "Parisian Sage is the best hair dressing I ever used. It gave my hair life and a gloss which no other dressing ever did, besides stopping it from falling out. It is the only dressing for up-to-date women."

March 24, 1910, Mrs. J. C. Ketcham, 4 Chester place, Bangor, Me., wrote: "My husband, J. G. NO MORE GRAY HAIR

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made and used a "sage tea" and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair, and are fast following suit. The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready to use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. As a scalp tonic and color restorer, this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers, and it can be bought for 50 cents and $1 a bottle at almost any first-class drug store, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

good luck it struck the man in the stomach, and he dropped to the ground and rolled in silent agony.

But at the same moment Orme was seized from behind, and held in a grip he could not break. Indeed, when he tried to break it, there was a sudden, killing strain on his spine. Then Arima's voice said, close to his ear:

"Where the papers?"

The papers! Japanese character thus brought its fresh surprise to Orme. Even after this hard fight, when three of his friends lay groaning on the ground—when he had in his power the man who had injured them, who had temporarily bested himself—Arima's chief thought was still of the papers!

He seemed to have none of the semi-barbarian vengefulness that might have been expected. He merely wished the papers—wished them the more desperately with every passing moment. The lives of his companions counted for nothing besides the papers!

"Where?" repeated Arima.

"I haven't them," said Orme. "You ought to know that by this time."

The answer was a torturing pressure on Orme's spine. "You tell," hissed Arima.

As the pressure increased Orme's suffering was so keen that his senses began to slip away. He was gliding into a state in which all consciousness centered hazily around the one sharp point of pain.

Then, suddenly, he was released. For a moment he staggered limply, but his strength surged back, and he was able to see how the situation had changed.

The girl had swung her car in closer to the edge of the grove and nearer to the struggling figures. Doubtless she had some idea of helping. But the effect of the change in the position of her car was to permit the searchlight of the other car to throw its bright beam without interruption down the road. And there, perhaps 50 feet to the southward, gleamed something white.

The girl could not see it, for her car was headed north. But Arima saw it, and in a flash he realized what it was. The papers lay there at the side of the road, where Orme had tossed them a moment before the two cars met.

There had been no other way to dispose of them. If the car from the north had stopped at a different angle, or if the other car had not moved, the light would not have shone upon them, and the Japanese might not have suspected where they were. Or, if Orme had tossed them a few feet farther to one side, they would have been out of the range of the light. But there they lay.

Arima leaped toward them. Even as he started, a figure appeared at the other side of the road and walked toward the cars. It was a man with brass buttons and policeman's helmet. He walked with authority, and he held a stout club in his hand.

"What's goin' on here?" he demanded.

Arima stopped in his tracks.

To Orme, at this moment, came the memory of the girl's desire to avoid publicity. "Nothing wrong," he said. The policeman stared. "I've been watchin' you from over there," he said. "It looks like nothin' wrong, with men fightin' all over the ground."

"Just a little trial of strength," explained Orme.

"Trial of strength, hey?" "Well," admitted Orme, "this man"—pointing to Arima—"wanted something that I had. It's not a matter for the police."

"Oh, it ain't? Somebody's been hurt." He gestured with his club toward the shadows where the three injured men were slowly coming back to their senses.

"Not seriously," said Orme. "We'll see about that later," replied the policeman decidedly.

Orme tried to carry the affair off boldly. Every moment of delay now threatened defeat for him. "There is nothing serious," he said. "They have done me no real harm. But the young lady and I shall be obliged to you, if you will keep these Japanese here until we can get away. They attacked us, but I don't wish to make a complaint against them."

The policeman showed new interest. He glanced at Arima. "Japanese!" he exclaimed. "There was one slugged on the campus last night. I guess you'll have to come along with me."

"Nonsense!" protested Orme. "Just because somebody hit a Japanese over the head last night—"

"Ah, you know about that, do you? No"—as Orme made a movement—"stand where you are." He drew his revolver.

During this colloquy, Arima had edged nearer and nearer to the papers. Orme's sudden step was involuntary; it was due to the fact that he had seen Arima stoop swiftly and pick up the papers and thrust them into his pocket.

"Keep quiet," continued the policeman. "And you, there"—he nodded toward Arima—"come here."

PROPERTY LOSS
$200,000,000

Besides Which More Than a Hundred Lives Lost.

FIERCE FOREST FIRES RAGING

Estimates Based Upon Official Reports to War and Forestry Departments at Washington Carry a Story of Appalling Suffering and Loss in the Fire-Swept Regions of Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Tremendous loss of life and property have followed the forest fires now raging over an area of 700 square miles in Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon. Unofficial estimates made here fix the total number of lives lost at 120 persons known to be dead as the result of the fires.

Officials here declare that the property loss incident to the forest fires may be conservatively estimated at $200,000,000. The war department, acting at the instance of the forest service, has ordered five additional companies of infantry and a pack train bearing medicines and food supplies out of the garrisons at Fort Walla Walla and American Lake for the Wallace and Bitter Root reservations. According to information received here, one-fourth of Wallace has been destroyed and the flames are eating their way to the remaining sections of the town. The spectacle is said to be a magnificently appalling
one.

The towns of Libby and Troy, Mont., are in grave danger and the people there asked the department for 250 troops. The reports say the fires are racing toward Mullan and Burke, Idaho, and unless relief arrives soon
many lives will be lost. Part of Lolo, Idaho, has been burned and the flames are spreading to the other sections of the town and nearby country.

Another telegram states that the inhabitants of the St. Regis valley have been taken out by special train and that nothing but a downpour of rain can save the valley from total destruction.

Two hundred men of the forestry service are reported to be in great danger west of the Bitter Root mountains. The fires at Bitter Root, Missoula and Cabinet mountains are burning fiercely, and it looks as if nothing can check them. The situation has become so threatening that complete details have been forwarded to President Taft.

Officials of the forest service believe that the fire in Oregon is of incendiary origin. Information to this effect was received from Associate Forester Cecil of Portland. He said in his dispatch that there is no doubt that the fires in the Carter national forest and at Medford resulted from incendiarism, and that new fires are being set constantly. Twenty-five men have been sent out in search of the culprits.

GENERAL TREND
OF POPULATION

Census Returns Now Beginning
to Be Definite.

CENTER REMAINS UNCHANGED

It Is Announced at Washington That Center of Population Will Probably Remain Near Columbus, Ind., Where Census of Ten Years Ago Established It—Some Notes Regarding Growths in Population West.

Columbus, Ind., Aug. 23.—Word from the census department carries the information that the center of population probably will remain near this city, as census figures indicate a growth about equal in all parts of the country. Only a small percentage of the total population has been announced thus far, the report continues, but enough is shown by the general trend to justify some generalizations. Probably the most important of these is that the eastern states are holding their own to such an extent as to indicate that the "pull" of the west will not be sufficient to disturb greatly the present equilibrium, and thus the center of population will remain near Columbus. With some exceptions the east is showing as marked growth as the west. Probably there will not be as pronounced gain in individual cases, but the average bids fair to be almost, if not quite, as good.

The eastern growth is attributable in the main to the development of manufacturing enterprises along the northern Atlantic seaboard. Up to date the full population of only two states, Rhode Island and Oklahoma, one east and the other west, has been announced. The increase in Oklahoma, amounting to 109 per cent over the population of the same area in 1900, is phenomenal, and is no indication of the rate of growth either in the west or in the country at large. That of Rhode Island, on the other hand, is more characteristic of natural growth in other sections similarly situated.
Still Rhode Island, with its 26.6 per cent of gain, is believed to be considerably above the average. If the Rhode Island increase should be maintained the country would show a total of about 96,000,000 people, whereas only about 90,000,000 are counted on.

The Pacific coast states are certain to make big gains, but the mining states of the intermountain region probably will suffer somewhat from the failure to develop important new camps during the last decade.

BATTLE FOR FREEDOM

Herman Miller Has Entered Upon Second Trial at Auburn.

Auburn, Ind., Aug. 23.—Once convicted for murder and sentenced to life imprisonment only to have the supreme court order a new trial, Herman Miller of Woodburn, Allen county, began another battle for his freedom in the Dekalb circuit court. Miller, John Stout, John Baker and Fred LaDuke, all of Woodburn, are under indictment for the murder of Marshal Columbus Croy of that town. The first three men were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. An error of the trial court, however, obtained reversals and orders for new trials. La-Duke turned state's evidence and has never been brought to trial, but is in jail yet, pending the outcome of the other three cases. Miller's case was brought here on a change of venue

Nicaragua Settles Down.
New Orleans, Aug. 23.—Cablegrams have been received here confirming the report that the revolutionists under General Mena had captured Granada and Managua, and that the government forces had abandoned Bluefield.
Dr. Madriz having been deposed as president of Nicaragua and having turned the office over to Jose D. Estrada, a brother of the revolutionary leader, who in turn abdicated in favor of General Juan J. Estrada. It is thought there will be no further opposition to General Estrada.

Collided on a Curve.
Seymour, Ind., Aug. 23.—A Big Four
mail and express train crashed head-on into a Baltimore & Ohio work train on a curve near Bocker. Several passengers and trainmen were injured. It is said the airbrakes on the work train were not in working order.

JOSEPH O. SIBLEY
After Spending Thousands to Get
It, He Gives Up the Race.

JOE SIBLEY RETIRES
FROM HARD WON RACE

Pennsylvania Candidate for Congress Is Out of It.

Sharon, Pa., Aug. 23.—Joseph O.
Sibley, Republican nominee for congress in the Eighth district, has announced his withdrawal from the race.
In a brief statement Sibley states that when he went into the campaign his eyesight was troubling him, but since that time he had suffered a general breakdown, with heart trouble as one of the principal causes of his failing health. He says, too, that his wife's health is poor. For these two reasons he says it is impossible for him to undergo the rigors of another campaign.
What effect his withdrawal will have on the audit of Sibley's campaign expense account, which was to have been made before Judge Criswell of Franklin on Aug. 29, is a matter of speculation, but it is believed the proceedings started by W. J. Breen of Oil City, Democratic nominee for congress in this district, will be dropped. Sibley defeated Nelson P. Wheeler, present congressman, at the June primaries by 630 votes.

In his sworn statement of expenses incurred during the campaign it was shown that Sibley spent $42,000, or $480 for every vote he received. Mentioned as a possible successor to Sibley are James P. Whitla, of kidnapping fame, Colonel W. N. Hulings of Oil City, and Nelson P. Wheeler of Endeavor.

LOST JOY OF LIVING

Despondent Yale Student Shoots Himself at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 23.—It has been established that the young man found shot through the head in Delaware park here Sunday night was Ralph E.
Coleman, jr., of the Class of 1911, Yale college, whose home was at Saranac Lake, N. Y. From hints dropped by classmates of Coleman, the police believe Coleman was in trouble with the college faculty. He was also weak in his studies. Bearing on this is this entry in a notebook diary found on him:

"Life holds no hope for me. It is better to leave school and give up your studies, they told me—(not decipherable). I have tried to live and to succeed, but have failed. I have known no happiness since April 1st."

Hot Weather Affects The Skin.

Tender skins are bound to be affected by the increased amount of poison in the copious perspiration thrown off during hot weather. Rashes, hives, blotches, pimples, prickly heat result. Often too, serious skin troubles begin this way.

To wash away the poison entirely, to clean and cool the skin, make an application of a simple solution of wintergreen with thymol, known as D. D. D. Prescription for eczema. It is sold for the purpose in dollar bottles, but we can give you for 25 cents enough D. D. D. to keep your skin fresh and clean from summer blemishes.

If there is any itch this winter-green lotion will take it away instantly, the very second it is applied to the skin. We assure you of this for we have seen the result with D. D. D. at Lytle's Drug Store.

POTATO FAMINE
IS THREATENEDLocal Dealers Say New Tubers Are Rapidly Advancing in Price
as Result of Shortage.HEAVY YIELD WAS PROMISED

A famine in potatoes is threatened and as a result of a shortage of the crop new tubers are rapidly advancing in price. Local dealers state that new potatoes are hard to secure at any price and they predict that the market will go still higher, probably reaching the highest point in many years. Last year potatoes made a bumper crop and prices were low. Many dealers who bought potatoes in large quantities and held them expecting the price to advance, lost thousands of dollars, but they are in a fair way to recuperate their losses this year, provided they can get hold of some spuds.

In the early season, potatoes gave promise of a heavy yield, but lack of rain and other unfavorable conditions blighted the prospects and seriously injured the crop. The tubers are not only small but they are few in a hill, growers finding upon digging up the vines that in many instances there are only one or two where ordinarily there would have been eight or ten.

BOYS ARE GIVEN SENTENCEJudge Sparks Sends Two Fairland
Youths to Reformatory.

Arville Pope and Earl Smith, the two Fairland lads placed under arrest Saturday by Sheriff Butler on a charge of stealing two bicycles from employees of the Dinkey factory were arraigned before Judge Sparks in juvenile court Monday morning and after admitting their guilt were sentenced to the Plainfield reformatory, says the Shelbyville News. They were taken to Plainfield by the sheriff Monday afternoon. Beyond question both boys are bad ones and there was no hope of gaining anything in the way of reform from them by suspending sentence.

Delightful Dish.

Dr. J. T. Tresidder of Tipton advances a novel plan for getting rid of English sparrows. He says that they are edible and delicious when prepared as a pot pie, and that people recognize their food value in this time of high living. This statement followed a discussion of the blackbird pest. Dr. Tresidder says he has eaten blackbirds and sparrows in potpie and that both are good.

Robert J. Aley, State superintendent of public instruction, has approved a resolution adopted by the township trustees of Howard county, whereby it is provided that teachers in the public schools of the county shall not count an absence against any pupil who takes a day from school to attend the State fair, which will begin after the Howard county schools are opened, and further provides that the teachers shall urge the pupils to attend the fair.

"The action of the trustees," said Mr. Aley, "is along the line of recent activities of the State board of education in seeking to interest the pupils of the common and the high schools in agriculture and manual training. A day spent by a pupil at the fair, if he is observing of the exhibits on display, will far more than compensate for his being absent from school. I wish other trustees of the State would take action similar to that taken in Howard county."

It costs like fury to get drunk in Waldron these days and four residents of the town will readily agree to this statement, as they know of its truth from experience, says the Shelbyville News. Elmer Barton of Waldron was given a fine of one dollar and costs of $61.30 in the court of Mayor Hawkins late Monday afternoon by the jury that had heard a case against him for intoxication.

Barton promptly took an appeal from the jury's verdict and gave bond in the sum of $100 to appear for a further hearing in the Shelby circuit court. The case was made so costly through the fact that about half the population of Waldron appeared at the trial, either as witnesses for the State or for the defense. The trial lasted nearly all afternoon as the jury did not report till 4 o'clock.
